

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

There's a spice shop somewhere near here!

Learning Outcome

Describe complicated or unusual events in the past through a wider range of B1 language in both work and social contexts.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about going out and socializing.
- I can ask for clarifications.
- I can explain my opinion.

Ask your partner:

- How often do you go out shopping for specialty items?
- If you came across a spice shop, would you go in and look around? Why or why not?

Let's Explore!

Drinking wine is gauche!

* "Gauche" means unsophisticated. It is pronounced gow-sh.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Hey Sal,

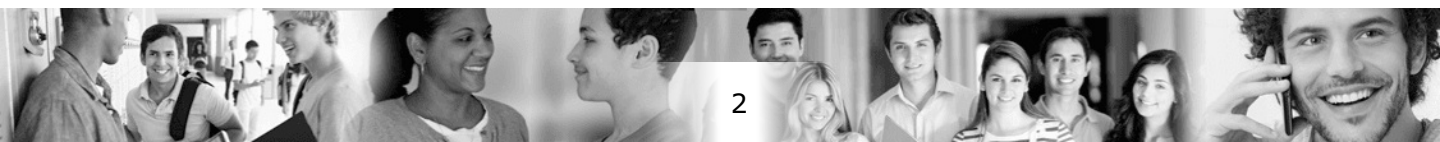

Dropping you an e-mail to see how things are going. Work is finished for the day, thank goodness! To be honest, so much wine is guzzled by patrons on some nights that I am glad they are whisked away by cab! Those who are ushered to late movies must find it hard to concentrate! To my mind, the ones who are escorted to night clubs are better off. Alcohol is burned off quite quickly on the dance floor, as far as I know.

Invitations to our Spicy Rice Night are sent. I think all that's left is to get ready for it! In my opinion the costumes and decorations that are chosen will make it quite a spectacle! Last week you said you saw an interesting spice shop in Boston. Do you know what it was called? It was downtown somewhere. Can you tell me where to find it? I know you said you were walking.

Do you recall what the name of the street was? What about the spices? Did you see any from India? I'd love to pick up some for the extravaganza. Let's go to Boston to find it. You said you had a day off this week. Can you call me and tell me what day that is?

It's late and I am so tired!!!

Vanessa

Let's Practice!

Everything is done!

Instructions: Read the dialogue. Read each sentence and select the correct option to complete the sentence.

1. Vanessa is happy because drunk people are ...
(frustrated / whisked away / angry)
2. The invitations to the event are ...
(sent / not ready / ushered)
3. Alcohol is burned off quickly while ...
(watching a movie / concentrating / dancing)

Let's Practice!

What's your opinion about it?

Instructions: Choose the words from the Word Bank to correctly complete the sentences.

Word Bank

party is ready / are escorted / whisked away from / I think

1. In my opinion, when noisy people are _____ from theaters, attendants can concentrate better.
2. To my mind, people who _____ to night clubs will behave properly.
3. _____ that costumes and decorations will make it a spectacle.
4. In my opinion, the _____ because everything is done.

Extension Activity

Write an e-mail to a friend.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Read Vanessa's e-mail to Sally again.
- Send a friend an e-mail talking about your day or week at work.
- Ask them questions about a place they told you about.
- Suggest that you go somewhere together sometime soon.
- Read your e-mail aloud to a partner.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I write an e-mail to a friend about my day or week.

☐ ☐

I use embedded questions to ask them about a place.

☐ ☐

I make a suggestion to go somewhere.

☐ ☐

I share my e-mail with a partner.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- thank goodness (expression): to be pleased and happy about something e.g. Work is finished for the day, thank goodness.
- to guzzle (verb): to drink something rapidly and eagerly e.g. To be honest, so much wine is guzzled by patrons.
- to whisk (verb): to move something or someone out of the way rapidly e.g. The firemen whisked the students away to a safe place.
- to usher (verb): to lead a person, group, or something to a place e.g. Those who are ushered to late movies must find it hard to concentrate!
- to escort (verb): to accompany or lead someone or something away from some place e.g. To my mind, the ones who are escorted to night clubs are better off.
- to recall (verb): to remember something or someone e.g. Do you recall what the name of the street was?
- extravaganza (noun): a fancy and opulent show or event
e.g. I'd love to pick up some spices for the extravaganza.

Learning Points

The Simple Present Passive

You use an active structure when you want the 'doer' of the action to be the subject.
You use a passive structure when you want the 'receiver' of the action to be the subject.

Active sentence = Cab drivers (subject) whisk people (object) away in cabs.

Passive sentence = They (subject) are whisked away by cab! (by people)

It is not necessary to mention the object in a passive sentence.

You make the passive form of a verb by using tenses of the verb followed by the past participle.

The Simple Present passive form is:
am/are/is + past participle

For example:

English is spoken in the United States.

Examples:

- So much wine is guzzled by patrons on some nights!
- I am glad they are whisked away by cab!
- Those who are ushered to late movies must find it hard to concentrate!
- The ones who are escorted to night clubs are better off.
- Alcohol is burned off quite quickly on the dance floor.
- The invitations to our Spicy Rice Night are sent.
- The costumes and decorations that are chosen will make it quite a spectacle!

Learning Points

Asking for Clarification

You ask for clarification when you want more details on what the other person is talking about.

You ask for clarification when it is not clear what the other person is referring to. You ask the other person to be more specific by giving you more information.

You can use a question at the beginning of a statement or question to ask for clarification like: Don't you think it sounds a bit too intense?

Questions within sentences are called embedded questions. Example:

Simple question: What are you going to do after dinner?

Embedded question: Do you know what you're going to do after dinner?

Look at the chart below for an explanation on how to make embedded questions.

You can also use a direct question.

Example: Is that a hint?

Direct questions go straight to the point. Sometimes they are used to be light-hearted or to be funny.

Peter: I'm really hungry now!

Sally: You mean there are times when you're not?

Main Question	Embedded Question
Do you know ...	what/where/when/who/ ... ?
Do you remember ...	what/where/when/who/ ... ?
Can you tell me ...	what/where/when/who/ ... ?
Could you tell me ...	what/where/when/who/ ... ?

Examples:

- Do you know what it was called?
- Can you tell me where to find it?
- Do you recall what the name of the street was?
- Can you call me and tell me what day that is?

