

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

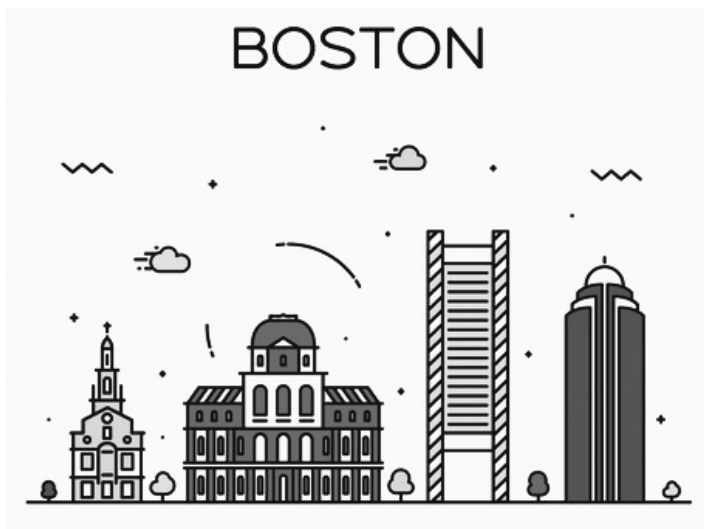

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Pronunciation Spot: Let's go shopping in Boston!

Learning Outcome

Describe complicated or unusual events in the past through a wider range of B1 language in both work and social contexts.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about going out and socializing.
- I can say and pronounce words like Wednesday.
- I can use proper intonation and stress in long statements.

Ask your partner:

- What words have surprised you when you hear them spoken?
- Where do you go to find the pronunciation of new words?

Let's Explore!

Vanessa won't let Sally dodge the outing!

* When you "dodge" something, you avoid it, usually because you don't want to do it.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Sally,

I haven't heard from you about going shopping for spices on Wednesday. I'm not going to let you dodge this outing! You pledged to help and I can't get on without you shopping with me in Boston! Can I come by or call and set up our day out? You have to come along! I want to catch up and talk about everything you've been doing! We can stop in at some nice sandwich shop for lunch. I need to come up with some more ideas for the event night. I thought I'd get some Spicy Rice Night badges made while I was in Boston. The chef told me to go for it! I also think the night calls for brightly colored handkerchiefs, or rather napkins, for the tables. We're having cheese wedges melted into a spicy rice dish as a starter. I thought the patrons would go in for some handsome dancers for entertainment. I've had to see to all of the arrangements by myself for this thing. It's tiring, to say the least!

I know I'm difficult to put up with sometimes when I'm on edge, but I do so miss your company! You can still get away with taking the day off right? I really need a dose of your positive outlook as the big day looms!

V

Let's Practice!

I need help for the Spicy Rice Night!

Instructions: Draw a line to match the sentences in Column A and Column B.

COLUMN A

1. Don't dodge this outing!
2. Remember that you pledged to help.
3. I'm not an easy person when I'm on edge.
4. Please request the badges for the event.
5. Let's stop in at a sandwich shop.

COLUMN B

- a. You always have an excuse to avoid it.
- b. People find me difficult to put up with.
- c. It's the promise you made last week.
- d. They are part of the decoration.
- e. I'm hungry.

Let's Practice!

Vanessa shares ideas for her event.

Instructions: Choose the words from the Word Bank to correctly complete the sentences.

Word Bank

put up / go for / go in for / made up / come by

1. I know I'm difficult to _____ with when I'm on edge.
2. I thought I'd get some badges _____ while I was in Boston.
3. I thought the patrons would _____ some handsome dancers.
4. Can I _____ or call and set up our day out?
5. When you have a dream, _____ it!

Extension Activity

Plan an evening out!

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Plan an evening out with classmates.
- Pick a type of restaurant you all want to go to.
- Go online and go to a user generated review website.
- Research two restaurants that you would like to go to.
- Get into groups.
- Write an explanation as to why those restaurant would be good choices.
- Give lots of supporting details.
- Convince your group members of the merits of one of your restaurants.

Self-Assessment

Yes No

I research a restaurant online using a user generated review site.

☐ ☐

I write a detailed explanation of two restaurants including lots of supporting details.

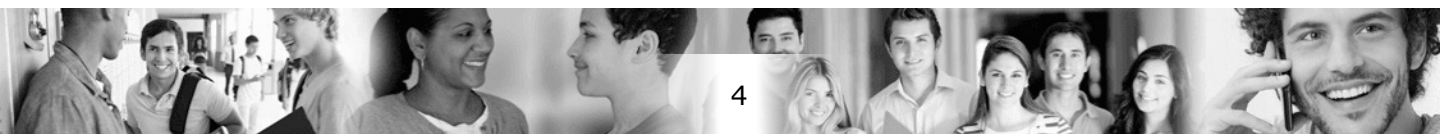

☐ ☐

I persuade my group members that my restaurant is the best.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to hear from (verb): to receive news from a person
e.g. I haven't heard from you about going shopping for spices on Wednesday.
- to come by (verb): to visit e.g. Can I come by or call and set up our day out?
- to pledge (verb): to promise
e.g. You pledged to help and I can't get on without you shopping with me in Boston!
- badge (noun): an emblem given as an award or honor e.g. Let's get some badges made up in Boston.
- to go for (verb): to try to achieve something e.g. The chef told me to go for it!
- handkerchief (noun): a small square piece of cloth used to wipe the nose
e.g. I also think the night calls for brightly colored handkerchiefs.
- to get away with (verb): to achieve something despite the circumstances e.g. You can still get away with taking the day off right?
- to go in for (verb): to enjoy a particular thing or activity e.g. I thought the patrons would go in for some handsome dancers for entertainment.
- to be on edge (verb): to be nervous about something e.g. I know I'm difficult to put up with sometimes when I'm on edge, but I do so miss your company!
- wedge (noun): a piece of solid material, thick at one edge and tapered to a thin edge at the other e.g. We're having cheese wedges melted into a spicy rice dish.

Learning Points

Pronouncing Silent Letter Words

The 'd' is sometimes silent in English.

The 'd' may be alone, or it may be in a 'dg' combination.

Read these words out loud. Concentrate on the pronunciation of them - notice the silent 'd'.

handsome (han_som)
Wednesday (Wens_day)
sandwich (san_wich)
handkerchief (han_ker_chif)

dodge (dah_j)
wedge (we_j)
badge (ba_j)
pledge (ple_j)
edge (e_j)

Examples:

- How about going shopping for spices on Wednesday?
- I'm not going to let you dodge this outing!
- You pledged to help!
- Let's get badges made up in Boston.
- They had brightly colored handkerchiefs.
- We're having cheese wedges as a starter.
- There are some handsome dancers for entertainment.
- I'm difficult to put up with sometimes when I'm on edge.

Learning Points

Stress in Phrasal Verbs and Breaking Sentences Into Parts

When you say a long sentence in English, you break it into distinct parts, each with its own intonation. You use the rise and fall of your voice to show the listener when you are or are not finished.

You break long sentences into parts, called clauses. Each clause has its own subject and verb (and sometimes object).

You also pause or break when you see a comma. A comma can separate a word or phrase from the rest of the sentence, or show where a clause ends.

For example:

When I checked into a hotel, // I would pick up a map and talk over my ideas with the concierge// who was more than happy to help.

At the end of each clause, you use rising intonation to show the listener that the sentence is not finished.

When you give opinions, the lead in to the opinion or reply is separated with a comma.

You also use stress when saying phrasal verbs.

If the phrasal verb is not separable, then you stress the verb.

Example: go over

Let's go over the menu. (go over - is not finished without the object menu.)

I didn't hear back.

Look at the examples below. Read the sentences aloud. Notice the breaks between clauses or phrases.

Examples:

- I need to come up with some more ideas // for the event night.
- I thought I'd get some Spicy Rice Night badges made up // while I was in Boston.
- I also think the night calls for brightly colored handkerchiefs// or rather napkins// for the tables.
- I've had to see to all of the arrangement by myself // for this thing.
- I know I'm difficult to put up with sometimes when I'm on edge// but I do so miss your company!

