Let's Start!

Running a restaurant can be exciting!

Learning Outcome

Describe complicated or unusual events in the past through a wider range of B1 language in both work and social contexts.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about injuries and accidents.
- I can explain my opinion.
- I can ask for clarifications.

Ask your partner:

- Have you ever had an accident in the kitchen? What happened?
- What things do people have to think about to be safe when working in the kitchen?

Let's Explore!

Vanessa says only essential personnel are allowed in the kitchen!

* The "essential personnel" are the people who absolutely have to be there.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Vanessa: Everyone, our Spicy Rice Night is coming up soon and we don't want any mishaps in the kitchen. I think what I want to get at is the fact that accidents happen. As I see it, we have to get on with our work without any unauthorized people in the kitchen.
- Tanya: Can you clarify who is authorized?
- Vanessa: I feel we should get down to essential personnel - cooks and waiters only.
- Daniel: Are you saying that means no entertainers?
- Vanessa: Yes. I am having a heated tent set up for them just outside the side door.
- Tanya: So that's where they'll be between sets?
- Vanessa: Yes. It's quite obvious that we have to get on with our work and watch out for each other. When things get rushed, people don't clean up spills that can result in a fall. Burns and scalds are also more common when it's busy.
- Tanya: Can you tell us how to prevent accidents?
- Vanessa: I'm certain you'll want to rush, but we'll get by if you don't. There are lots of hot liquids in a busy kitchen. Fires happen when people aren't paying attention. So, I think we all have to look after each other and strive to get along under pressure.
- Daniel: So you think that we should stay calm?
- Vanessa: Exactly. It will be noisy and chaotic. However, we want to avoid burned fingers and broken bones!

Let's Practice!

Learning Points

Exchanging Opinions

When you express an opinion, you give your ideas on a topic. You can use some inseparable phrasal verbs when you give opinions.

Some phrases we use to give opinions are:

So you think ..., Honestly, ..., I think ..., and I guess ...

You use phrasal verbs when you want to be less formal. They are very common in spoken English.

Phrasal Verb	Meaning
get by	survive
get along	be pleasant and not argue
get on with	do; continue doing
get down to	be serious about
get at	make a point

Examples:

- I think what I want to get at is the fact that accidents happen.
- As I see it, we have to get on with our work without any unauthorized people in the kitchen.
- I feel we should get down to essential personnel - cooks and waiters only.
- It's quite obvious that we have to get on with our work and watch out for each other.
- I'm certain you'll want to rush, but we'll get by if you don't.
- I think we all have to look after each and strive to get along under pressure.

Asking for Clarification

You ask for clarification when you want more details on what the other person is talking about.

You ask for clarification when it is not clear what the other person is referring to. You ask the other person to be more specific by giving you more information.

You can use a question at the beginning of a statement or question to ask for clarification like: Don't you think it sounds a bit too intense?

Learning Points

Questions within sentences are called embedded questions.

Example:

Simple question: What are you going to do after dinner?

Embedded question: Do you know what you're going to do after dinner?

Look at the chart below for an explanation on how to make embedded questions.

Main Question	Embedded Question
Do you know ...	what/where/when/who/ ... ?
Do you remember ...	what/where/when/who/ ... ?
Can you tell me ...	what/where/when/who/ ... ?
Could you tell me ...	what/where/when/who/ ... ?

You can also use a direct question.

Example: Is that a hint?

Direct questions go straight to the point. Sometimes they are used to be light-hearted or to be funny.

Peter: I'm really hungry now!

Sally: You mean there are times when you're not?

Examples:

- Can you clarify who is authorized?
- Are you saying that means no entertainers?
- So that's where they'll be between sets?
- Can you tell us how to prevent accidents?
- So you think that we should stay calm?
