

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Let's review!

Learning Outcome

Describe complicated or unusual events in the past through a wider range of B1 language in both work and social contexts.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about food and how to prepare it.
- I can talk about going out and socializing.
- I can ask for clarifications.

Ask your partner:

- What spices do you enjoy having in your food?
- Which ones do you prefer not to have? Why?

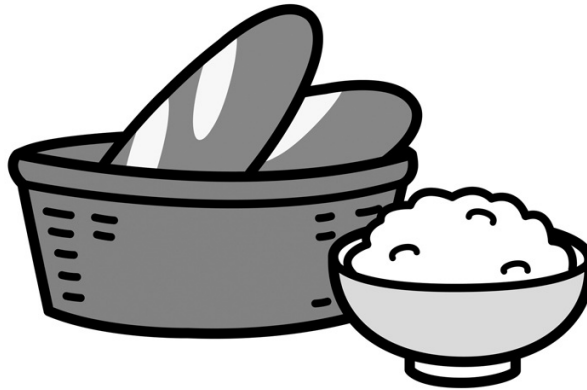

Let's Explore!

Sally needs to cut away from her fingers.

* When you use a sharp knife you should curl your fingers in and "cut away from" rather than toward your fingers.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Vanessa: The nuts and seeds taste so good when they're roasted with some oil.
- Sally: You mean how you did them tonight?
- Vanessa: How many painkillers did you take?
- Sally: Well, my foot and hand don't hurt!
- Vanessa: I was lucky that you came across that spice shop in Boston when you were out shopping.
- Sally: Can you tell me where it is again?
- Vanessa: Oh Sal! No more wine for you!
- Sally: It was also very nice that I could get away with taking the day off. It's a rare treat.
- Vanessa: How did you manage to get the time?
- Sally: I can take a day if I need it.
- Vanessa: Nice.
- Sally: Mmm. You can smell the cardamom and cinnamon stick in the rice. It's really fragrant too. Wash the rice carefully then boil it. Seeds can be roasted with a little oil. See, I remember.
- Vanessa: Vegetables should be cut away from you is what you need to recall!
- Sally: Are you telling me to be more careful?
- Vanessa: Exactly!
- Sally: I'm glad we had time to lunch in Boston and catch up. I would go in for a few days away somewhere. Maybe we can get Peter to come round next weekend. We can go through the countryside maybe. I've got to face up to the fact that shopping, not cooking is my forte!
- Vanessa: Thank goodness!

Let's Practice!

Sally is providing some instructions.

Instructions: Read the text again. Select all the correct answers.

What are the instructions Sally is giving?

1. Toast the nuts
2. Cut the vegetables
3. Bake the bread
4. Wash the rice
5. Roast the seeds

Let's Practice!

Guess the missing words!

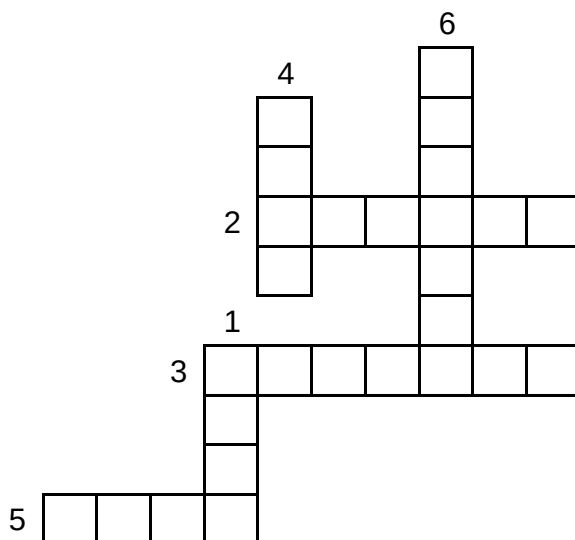

Instructions: Complete the crossword. First, read the clue. Then, write your answer.

DOWN

1. Let's ask Peter to _____ round on Monday.
4. Sally can't get _____ with the day off. I need her help.
6. Maybe Peter and Sally can go _____ the menu with me.

ACROSS

2. I was so lucky that you came _____ that shop.
3. Fortunately, we could _____ when we had dinner.
5. Everybody has to _____ up to the fact that Sally is good at shopping.

Extension Activity

The tipping debate.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Get in groups. Your group will debate if tipping is good.
- Brainstorm reasons why tipping is good for society.
- Write three points as to why tipping is good.
- Research online and find supporting details as to why.
- Debate with another group who has the "tipping is bad" position.
- Have the class decide who won the debate and give feedback.

Self-Assessment

Yes No

I brainstorm ideas to support an opinion.

☐ ☐

I research my opinion and find details to support it.

☐ ☐

I debate with people with opposing views.

☐ ☐

I give feedback.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to get away with (verb): to succeed despite the difficulties
e.g. It was also very nice that I could get away with taking the day off.
- to recall (verb): to remember something or someone e.g. Vegetables should be cut away from you is what you need to recall!
- cinnamon stick (noun): a common culinary spice that comes from a tree bark e.g. You can smell the cardamom and cinnamon stick in the rice.
- cardamom (noun): an aromatic seed coming from a plant of the same name e.g. You can smell the cardamom in the rice.
- fragrant (adjective): having a pleasant smell
e.g. The rice is really fragrant too.
- thank goodness (expression): to be pleased and happy about something e.g. Sally: Shopping, not cooking is my forte! Vanessa: Thank goodness!
- to come round (verb): to visit, to stop in e.g. Maybe we can get Peter to come round next weekend.
- to face up to (verb): to accept that a difficult situation exists
e.g. I've got to face up to the fact that shopping, not cooking is my forte!

Learning Points

Inseparable Phrasal Verbs

You can use some inseparable phrasal verbs when you give opinions and others when you talk about social activities.

You use phrasal verbs when you want to be less formal. They are very common in spoken English.

Inseparable phrasal verbs cannot be separated. This means that you cannot put a noun between the verb and particle (preposition) as you can do with separable phrasal verbs.

Example: Separable phrasal verb to look up

Can you look up that word?

Can you look that word up?

Can you look it up?

Example: Inseparable phrasal verb to go through

I went through a dozen cook books.

Phrasal Verb	Meaning
catch up	tell news
go in for	enjoy; happily take
face up to	realize
go through	traverse; travel across
come across	find, by accident
come round	visit
get away with	do without punishment

Examples:

- I was lucky that you came across that spice shop in Boston when you were out shopping.
- I'm glad we had time to have lunch in Boston and catch up.
- I would go in for a few days away somewhere.
- Maybe we can get Peter to come round next weekend.
- We can go through the countryside maybe.
- I've got to face up to the fact that shopping, not cooking, is my forte!

Learning Points

- It was also very nice that I could get away with taking the day off.

Passive Modals and The Imperative to Talk About Food

You use modal verbs to add meaning to other verbs. They come before the dictionary form (Infinitive without 'to') of the main verb. Modal verbs can add meaning connected with certainty or obligation.

You can use modal verbs in the passive voice.

You use the passive voice when you want to focus on the receiver of the action, rather than the 'doer' of the action.

Here is the structure of a passive sentence:

Subject + to be + past participle

For example: Then some chives are sprinkled on the salad!

You can add a modal verb before the to be.

Subject + modal + to be + past participle

For example: Then some chives can be sprinkled on the salad!

Here the sentence now has an additional meaning of possibility, thanks to the modal can.

When you are cooking, or talking about how to cook, you can also use the imperative.

The imperative is used when giving directions.

The subject 'you' is understood and left out.

Example: Boil the vegetables. = You boil the vegetables.

By leaving out 'you' the statement becomes stronger and the focus is shifted to the verb.

Examples:

- You can smell the cardamom and cinnamon stick in the rice.
- It's really fragrant too.
- Wash the rice carefully, then boil it
- Seeds can be roasted with a little oil.
- Vegetables should be cut away from you is what you need to recall!

